

Angel Kisses

There are many people throughout the nation,
some are near and some are far,
who don't know how much God loves them just because of who they are.

They may not have friends to talk to or anyone they can confide, so they live life never knowing God's the one Friend by their side.
They want to know they're needed and that their life was not in vain.

Then they question things about their life and why they go through so much pain.

Have you ever blown a kiss to show someone that you care?
You see angels wait to catch them all and then deliver them everywhere.

All it takes are angel kisses to help heal a broken heart.
They help fill the void inside so the loneliness can depart.
The next time you receive a blessing, go outside and say a prayer.
Ask God to help the hurting and then blow a kiss up in the air!
