

His Only Motive

"Father, forgive them for they know not what they do,"
are the words that Jesus said before he died for me and you.

When the soldiers came, he didn't fight back.

He went of his free will.

He let them nail him to the cross so the scripture he could fill.
He said those words before he died. He asked nothing in return.

His love is unconditional. It's not something you can earn.

His only motive was to save all souls from an eternal death.

That's why he suffered long and hard until his final breath.
What all this means is you are loved more than you'll ever know.

Will you walk with Jesus through this life or will you turn away and go?

Easter is a joyous time. It's a celebration all can share.

It makes no difference where you are,
because Jesus will be there.

You're never alone when you walk with him.

He is your closest friend.

He'll fill the void you feel inside and your broken heart he'll mend.

So enjoy your life though death will knock
upon your door one day,
because your soul's been won by God's own son
and with him is where you'll stay!
