

I'll See You Again

It's been a whole year now since you went away,
but deep in my heart it seems like just yesterday.
God wanted you in heaven so he came and took you home.
You now walk the streets of gold and see where angels roam.
I can still see your face and remember your smile.
There are so many memories that come back for awhile.
I miss you so much, Mom, but I'll see you again, because I know that in heaven is where our lives begin.
Please ask God to help me so I can remain strong.
There are still days my heart breaks and it's hard to go on.
No one knows their time on earth, but this I know is true.
Jesus died and defeated death so one day I'll be with you.
Until that day I'll walk by faith and praise our God above for giving me the best of you and the blessings of your love.
I love you and I miss you, Mom. Thanks for all you've given me.
I will live my life to honor you and be all that I can be.
