

It's the Reason

I know the pain of death. I've been touched just like you.
It left a void within my heart and broke my heart in two.

I questioned and I wondered just why you had to go
And then I heard the answer as only God would know.
You left so God could hold you and take away your pain.

Then He left me keep your memory

So I'd know your love remains.

God said that death's the door to all eternity.

It's the reason that our Savior chose to suffer agony.

So when the pain consumes you,

Don't lose hope or walk away.

God still is in charge and He loves you.

He's just showing you the way.
