

Let the Son Shine In

God gave you hope for each tomorrow.
That's why daylight follows night.
In God's eyes your life's beginning. It's up to you to make it right.
Take a chance on each day given.
Don't lose sight of the dreams inside.
Only you can prevent God's blessings,
When you don't allow Jesus by your side.
The world can be so hard at times. It can tear your heart apart,
But through each pain there is always gain.
Now let all doubt depart.
When heartache comes or even death, God always will be near.
He'll hold you through the darkest hour and wipe away each tear.
Our God is such a loving God. One day you'll understand.
The earth is just a practice run. It's not the life God planned.
Keep looking up. You're not alone. Now let the Son shine in.
God loves you and won't let go. It's time your dreams begin.
