

Precious Child

Happy Valentine's Day to the precious child part of you!
To the child God created. To thine own self be true.
We all were born innocent... unlike we are today!
Back then we didn't choose our path. We let God lead the way.
With the influence of others and all the labels from TV,
We formed the way we looked at life and saw our destiny.
Society said we must be perfect to be loved by someone.
If we didn't have looks and money, we'd never be anyone.
As we grew up we were given labels and believed the world's lies.
We decided that we couldn't match up and were often criticized.
It was so untrue, because God made you. You have a purpose on this earth.
The child inside may believe these lies, but God says you have self-worth.
As an adult you know you are okay, but the child sees what's inside.
Only you know what you really need so step back and step aside.
Treat yourself to a box of candy and why not watch an old cartoon?
Do all the things that make you happy. Stay up late and sleep 'til noon.
When you acknowledge the child deep inside, it's surprising what you will see -
An innocent precious child of God who's alive and lives in thee.
So the next time life gets you out of sorts be aware of the child in you.
God gives you permission to love yourself and to thine own self be true!

Happy Valentine's Day to You and Yours
