

This Is "YOUR" Time

Happy Holiday, My Friend, and it comes from the heart.
May the new year bring good times and the bad ones depart.
May you find the "child" in you and laugh 'til you cry.
May you walk in the rain and try not to stay dry!
May you dance until morning and welcome the light.
May you play cards or checkers and charades until night.
May you dig in your closets and find things from your past.
May the great memories flow 'cause the good times "DO" last.
Don't be like the others who seem to forget -
That our bodies grow old but our souls are young yet.
God made our souls ageless so have a fun year.
This is YOUR time on earth and I'm so glad you're here.
As God is my witness and I know He'll agree,
He wants the best for you so live and be free.
Remember the good times because they're still around.
They're just packed in the past and need to be found.
Don't let society take them away.
God gave them to you and with you they should stay.
Now go rekindle that spirit of the child still in you.
It's still not too late to enjoy what you do.
Just remember to laugh, crack a joke and have fun.
This is "YOUR" time, My Friend. May it be the best one!
