

You Are the Hope

In the silence I hear you calling.
Through the noise, your voice calls out.
When I'm alone, I feel your presence.
It's you I need. There is no doubt.
There is no place that you won't find me.
There is no place that I can hide.
You are a faithful and loving Savior
and through life's heartaches, you're by my side.
Please know I love you, Jesus. I'm not afraid. You are with me.
When sickness comes, you are my Healer
and through it all, there you will be.
I will stand with my arms open. I will look towards the sky.
I surrender my whole life to you.
You are the Hope that I can't buy.
I choose to walk the straight and narrow.
Because of you, my soul is free.
The world may try to take my body, but in the end, it'll never be!
I believe there is a heaven where all heartache will go away,
but for now please hold me, Jesus.
I am ready to begin this day.