

Your Mom Is Okay

There's nothing I can do or say to take away your pain, but if there were I'd do it so not a tear remains.
I know how much you're hurting and I know that you have cried.
I know the emptiness you feel without your Mom by your side.
It's hard to lose a parent and it's so hard to understand,
when part of you is taken away
with all the times that you had planned.
Life can be unfair at times, but this I know is true.
When God takes away a soul, the memories stay with you.
That's why at night when you're alone and a memory comes to mind, let it through and remember - God's not the hurting kind.
He sends it back so you will know that your Mom is okay.
She's healed now. His strength is back and she's not that far away.
You can close your eyes and see her face or if you listen with your ears, you'll still hear her voice within your head so you'll know that she's still near.
It's like she's in another room and she's calling out to you.
Enjoy the memories God has given. They're there to help you through.
God loves you, Friend. Don't ever doubt one day you will unite.
Keep looking up! You're not alone. You're always in God's sight.