

God Has All the Answers

I see the tears run down your face, is there something I can do?

I do not know the reason or the pain you're going through.

I cannot take away your pain, but let me dry your tears.

Then I'll say a prayer for you and ask God to keep you near.

You see, God has all the answers to why you're feeling blue.

He is waiting for the right time to make your dreams come true.

The pain's not meant to hurt you -

it's there to help you grow.

It's like the rain that brings the flowers and the storm, a bright rainbow.

Please remember that God loves you and in time you'll understand, but for now you must be patient and watch the good that he has planned.

© Heaven's Roll Call
Sue Lueck Carlson
www.heavensrollcall.com