

Good-bye

Abandoned and forgotten is what the world will see, but those who know the Father know that it couldn't be.

The world may think you were alone, but you and I both know,
God placed you here upon the earth and was there when you would go.

There are names that we will never know and the loss is hard to bear, but we pray from this day forward we can show the world we care.

We're sorry that mistakes were made, but we can't undo the past.

All we can do is search it through 'til we find your names at last.

Though we never go to meet you, we lift our hands up high to honor the memory of your life before we say, "Good-bye."

We pray the you will rest in peace and we also pray this, too - help us learn we all have value no matter what we do.

If heaven called you're now at rest and with the ones you love.

All pain is gone and you move on to walk the streets above.

Let's take the hand of the person near and bow our heads in prayer,

"Help us, Lord, to never forget that you are always there."
