

Look Up

Look up when life has beaten you down.
Look up and let Jesus remove your frown.
Look up and know he waits for you.
Look up and let him carry you through.
Look up and hold on to his hand.
Look up when you don't understand.
Look up, God's precious one, he loves you so.
Look up through the pain and let it go.
Nothing can harm the spirit inside.
It's safe in God's hands. That why Jesus died.
Material things can be replaced with new.
Houses can be rebuilt and furniture, too.
Household items now lost in the flood
May one day be found under grass and mud.
These things are important when you live each day.
It's hard to go on when they're taken away,
But the things that really matter you can't hold in your hand.
It's the love found inside you. It's the strength when you stand.
Keep looking forward as hard as it may be.
Time will be your friend if you just wait and see.
Jesus hasn't left you. He is there by your side.
When you're down and feeling lonely, his arms he'll open wide.
There is nothing in this world that the two of you can't share.
He'll be your strength the times your weak and take the cross that you bear.
Now close your eyes, God's precious one, and I pray you'll always know -
You're never alone in this world, because Jesus loves you so.
