

Look Up

When your life is surrounded by sadness and your heart is broken in two,
don't believe all the lies Satan whispers,
because he wants to destroy all of you.
Death is the door that leads us to angels.
It's the door where all sorrow will flee.

When you believe in Jesus, our Precious Savior, death has been conquered and he is the key.
I'm sorry your life is in shambles.

I'm so sorry for all the pain you must bear.
I pray you will feel the arms of our Savior
and know his presence will always be there.

The times you think you're alone in the darkness,
raise your hands and look towards the sky.
Then know Jesus is watching from heaven,
while angels gather ever tear that you cry.

You see tears are the blessings God gives us.
They're all the dreams yet to come or let go.

Tears make us strong while they clean out our sadness.

They make us look up when we're feeling so low.
So the next time that your heart breaks in silence and you feel alone with no peace to be found.

Remember Jesus and the blood that he shed for you.
Then walk forward and know you're on solid ground.