

Our Bond

Mother's Day will be here soon and I love you, Mom, so much.

I know how much you love me, too,
when I feel your gentle touch.

We've each had our ups and downs in life,
but there's a bond we'll always share.

Through the good times and the bad,
I always knew that you were there.

I wish that I had told you more how much you mean to me, but life never offers an undo so I pray that you will see.

I love you, Mom, for being you and I thank God for all you do.

There's no way that I can ever erase all the worry I put you through.

As a child I didn't understand why you always would say, "NO!"

I thought that you were being mean and never wanted me to go.

I now know that God was using you to fulfill the life he planned.

He used your faith and trust in Him to help you take a stand.

These words will never be enough to say what's in my heart, but I pray God will help you see that we'll never be apart.

In life and death you have my love
and though there are words left unspoken,

I couldn't have made it in this world
if our bond had ever been broken.

Have the Happiest Mother's Day.

May God send you blessings from above.

I'm forever grateful that you're my Mom and I'm sending you my love.