

Relive Each Precious Memory

Is your heart breaking in silence though there are people all around?
Do you question why things happen and how to get back on solid ground?
Do you cry yourself to sleep at night, because it's so hard to understand how one day you're on top of the world and the next day in quicksand?

God knows the pain you feel inside and he sees the tears you cry.
He knows how hard this life can be and why sometimes people die.

Death is not a punishment but a reward for those he loves.
He doesn't want you to be sad, but to rejoice with those above.
Try to relive each precious memory he allowed you both to share.

Then know that it's a small glimpse of how your life will be in heaven when you get there.

The best is yet to come, my friend, so don't miss a single day.
God has many blessings still in store before you're on your way!