

The Gift

In case you don't know it, I'm proud of you, son.
Miles separate us for now, but our world still is one.
Your life is a blessing from our God above.

He is using you to share His message of love.
There is hope in the faces of the children who are meek as their laughter echoes in the silence of the love that they seek.

At times they receive things that money cannot bind, but the gift you are giving is of a different kind.

You bring the gift of Jesus from our Father above and it's wrapped in the goodness of his undying love.

This is the kind of gift that only matters in this life.

It replaces the heartache, the tears and strife.

So never start to doubt if you're in the right place, because with God in your heart you indeed have His grace!
