

The Pace

I know your life hasn't gone exactly as you planned, but trust in me, I love you, Child. One day you'll understand.
Don't be scared. I haven't left. I still am by your side.
I'll hold you when you fall asleep and wipe the tears you've cried.
Let's walk together on life's road and see what each day brings.
There are blessings still in store for you.
There are still so many things.
I'll be there in the morning sun
and let the wind caress your face.
Live the life I've given you regardless of the pace.
Take time to laugh and enjoy your life.
I have much more to give.
Keep looking up; I'm in control.
It's time you start to live!