

You Don't Know Me

You tell me I'm no good
And that I will never learn.
You tell me I can't make a living
On the money that I earn.
You tell me all the things
That I'm suppose to do -
That they always worked for you
And they will work for me, too.
You tell me that I need to change
Before it is too late,
Because God will soon be coming
And that he will never wait.

There's something that you do NOT know
And it's that you don't know me!
I believe in God and what he says
And he believes in me.

Jesus died for me,
Just like he died for you.
It's wrong to push your life on me
With the things you say and do.
I'm not the "kid" I was before,
So let it go somehow.
Forget the past. It didn't last.
We only have right now.
I'm sorry for the pain I caused,
But if you let it go.

You'll see the changes that I made
And then you, too, will know -
When things were bad between us...
I still loved you.
