

Your Little One

Little smiles for awhile - the day has come at last.
Wipe their tears. Hold them near. They grow so very fast.
First they talk. Then they walk. Each day they seem to grow.
Learn to pray every day so Jesus they will know.
Please don't cry or ask God why. It's not what He had planned.
Death will come to everyone. One day you'll understand.
God is Love. That's who He is. That's all that He can be.
He loves your child and always will through all eternity.
In time you'll see your little one,
But until then please hold on.
Your "angel" is in heaven now. It's the place angels belong.
Please keep the faith and know one day
All things will turn out right.
The body dies, but the soul lives on. In time you will unite.
God knows the pain you feel inside,
Because He saw His own son die.
Jesus is the door to what lies in store
So hold on and do not cry.